Get Acquainted With the NEW ORIENTAL POPPIES

They will give your garden a face-lifting such as no other perennial will do.

They produce great splashes of color. Masses of salmon-pink or deep red combine beautifully with shasta daisies, delphiniums and many other perennials in bloom at the same time. The improved Chinese reds and glowing scarlets are particularly effective against heavy masses of evergreen or shrub foliage.

Poppies are easily grown, perfectly hardy, and established plants produce great armfuls of bloom.

Painstaking research and hybridizing has produced heretofore unknown colors. No longer must you content yourself with the old-fashioned orange-red poppies of our grandmother's garden. These aristocrats of the flower world may now be had in "Salmon," "Old Rose," "Lilac-rose," "Coral-pink," "Shrimp-pink," "Carmen," "Golden orange," "Flame Scarlet," shades of lavender, and many other shades which harmonize beautifully with other spring flowers.

Read carefully the succeeding pages telling the proper time and place to plant, instructions for their care, how to arrange them in the garden and bouquets and how to get a sequence of bloom.

The color descriptions marked * are taken from "Color Standards and Nomenclature" by Ridgway. The numeral following the name indicates the average height when in bloom.

Order now, as poppies must be planted when dormant. Shipment of dormant roots will be made between July 15 and September 15, which produces best results.

When cash accompanies order, transportation charges will be prepaid. Residents of Ohio should include 3% sales tax with remittance.

SIEBENTHALER POPPIES

Siebenthaler Poppies are strong, field grown plants, ready for planting directly into their permanent place in the garden or perennial border.

The following alphabetical list contains not only the latest introductions of the leading plant breeders of this country and Europe but many originated by us.

WHEN TO PLANT ORIENTAL POPPIES—JULY AND AUGUST

The balance of the year, even through the winter months, they are in an active growing condition. The dormant season, unlike most other plants, is midsummer and if moved then good results are sure to be secured. Of course, the clumps increase in size with age and may be left in the same spot for many years. Order now and we will ship at the best time for planting.

SOIL CONDITIONS FOR ORIENTAL POPPIES

They will thrive and prosper in any good garden soil, whether it be sandy, clay, loam, or even heavy clay. However, they dislike having water stand over them for any prolonged period, or even where the water level is as close as six inches from the surface of the ground. They do not seem to be particular as to lime or acid soils, nor should they have any strong fertilizer in any form. Leaf mold seems to be their favorite source of food.

THE CULTURE OF ORIENTAL POPPIES

The culture of Oriental Poppies is no more difficult than that of any other permanent perennial. In fact, once they are established in the garden they need very little else than clean cultivation. Being deeply rooted, they rarely suffer from lack of water except possibly the first year they are planted. They do require a well drained soil of good garden loam, a little mulch of excelsior or straw under the leaves the first winter, water only in rare instances, little or no fertilizer, and plenty of room in which to grow in preferably a sunny situation. Seed pods should be removed as soon as the petals have fallen, and the entire top cut back after it has turned down.

CARE OF ORIENTAL POPPIES

Oriental Poppies need very little special care, as they are not ordinarily susceptible to disease or insect pests. About the only care which is necessary is the usual cultivation and weed control, and when new plants are entering their first winter it is well to mulch the surface of the ground under the leaves of the plant with a light layer of excelsior or straw. Newly planted poppies require moderate watering if a dry season should prevail following their planting.

ARRANGEMENT OF POPPIES IN THE GARDEN

Oriental Poppies have long suffered the reputation of not harmonizing with other garden flowers. This idea is the fruit of ignorance, for there are a great many varieties of poppies which will go well with any other respectable garden flowers. One of the prettiest garden combinations conceivable is a soft pink poppy such as Watteau or Helen Elizabeth in combination with Belladonna Delphinium and Madonna Lilies. Another good combination is the variety Welcome used with Regal Lilies with a good variety of Mock Orange as a background. Of course, the promiscuous use of the old-fashioned seedling oriental poppies does create a clash of colors in the garden, but a little forethought in the proper selection of named varieties will avoid any such criticism. The deep red oriental poppies always makes a splendid appearance where they can have a background of dark green evergreens or white blooming shrubs such as Syringas.

SEQUENCE OF BLOOM

Recent developments in the varieties of Oriental Poppies have extended the period of bloom a great deal. With the proper selection of varieties we can now extend the poppy season over a period of nearly six weeks, beginning the 10th of May and ending the first of July. The earliest variety to bloom is the double, orange-colored Olympia. This is soon followed by Helen Elizabeth and May Queen. Other very early varieties coming before the first of June are Henri C̄ayeux, King George, and Beauty of Livermere. The first half of June brings Lula A. Neeley, Purity, Enfield Beauty, Cerise Beauty, Julia Buck, and Mahony into bloom. These are followed by Lightness, Salmon King, Gaiety, Joyce, and then come Perfection, Perry's White, Wunderkind, Mandarin, and Trilby. The season is usually ended with the last flowers of Mrs. Stobart, Loreley, Colonel Bowles, and Echo.

	Each	Per 3
•• THE MARNE —20 in. An immense flame-scarlet flower on short, heavy stems. An excellent cut flower usually at its best on Poppy Day.	1.50	4.00
• TOREADOR —32 in. A genuine Carmine* poppy of immense size, nine inches across, with beautiful base markings and very crinkly. One of the best dark red poppies.	3.50	10.00
TRILBY —48 in. Dark, lustrous red. On tall tems.	1.50	4.00
••• WATTEAU —24 in. Shrimp Pink* or flesh-coral colored, small sized, but abundant flowers on compact, well formed plant. This is the finest poppy for border planting.	1.50	4.00
WELCOME —40 in. Shiny Nopal Red*, very large flowers on heavy stems with good dark green foliage.	1.00	2.50
••• WUNDERKIND —33 in. Considered the finest cerise-colored poppy, true Begonia Rose* shade. Much larger flowers and stronger grower than Ethel Swete or Mrs. H. G. Stobart, which are often substituted for it. Well shaped plants and sturdy stems with excellent foliage. Fine for cut flowers.	2.50	6.25
• WURTEMBERGIA —38 in. Nopal Red* or dark scarlet. Large flowers on good stems and foliage. An old favorite.	.75	2.00

ORIENTAL POPPIES IN BOUQUETS

When properly prepared, poppies will maintain their freshness and last as long as many other varieties of garden flowers. The newly opened flowers or buds which have burst and are showing color are the ones to cut. Then burn the cut ends of the stems over a blaze until they have charred to a length of one to two inches. Immerse the stems in cold, deep water and place in a cool, shaded location for a couple of hours, after which time they may be arranged in suitable bouquets and by adding fresh, cool water twice a day they will give surprising results.
